ODK Preparations Completed

100 Students, Faculty Comprise Conference

Members of Omicron Delta Kappa and Cap and Gown, men's and women's leadership honorary societies, have completed final arrangements for the 1959 ODK Conference, which will be held at the Findlay Elk's Club Saturday.

More than 100 student and faculty leaders will comprise the 14 discussion groups that will attack the main theme of "The Role of Extracurricular Activities in University Life."

Last year's conference, one of the most interesting and thought provoking of recent years, dealt with the problem of "What Can Be Done to Stimulate an Intellectual Climate Outside the Classroom?" Many of the suggestions and ideas prompted by those attending the conference last year have become realities as a result of the interest and enthusiasm which was shown.

Lakeside, scene of several conferences in the past, had to be abandoned this year, and the Elk's Club in Findlay was selected to be the new host of the conference. Due to the lateness of the conference and the high probability of cold weather, Lakeside had to be ruled out, as it has no heating facilities.

Herm Koby, chairman of the event, reminds conference participants that persons invited should meet at the Ridge Street entrance to parking lot 1 at 8:30 a.m.

The participants will be divided into 14 groups, seven of which will meet in the morning buzz session and the remaining seven in the afternoon. One member of Cap and Gown and one member of Omicron Delta Kappa will moderate at each session.

2nd Concert Features Varied Music Program

Mr. Thomas Curtis, University organist and part-time instructor in music, will be the performer in the second of this year's series of faculty concerts. Mr. Curtis will present a varied program of organ music at 8:15 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 8, in the recital auditorium.

At the Sunday concert Mr. Curtis will open the program with Froberger's "Tocata in D Minor," followed by Mozart's "Prelude on the 'Ave Verum,'" and "The Musical Clocks," by Haydn. Completing the first section of the program will be Bach's organ arrangement of the Vivaldi "Concerto in A Minor."

After the intermission, another item of interest to those attending will be the "Toccata, Villancico, and Fugue," by Alberto Ginastera. First performed in 1952, this is the only organ work so far produced by the famous Brazilian composer, who has made a wide reputation for his orchestral music. "A Mountain Spiritual," by Maurice Whitney, and the "Grand Choeur Dialogue," by Eugene Gigout, will complete the program.

Mr. Curtis makes his home in Elyria, and drives to the campus each Tuesday to instruct music students studying the organ. He began teaching at the University in 1948, and is now instructing 11 organ students.

In addition to his teaching at the University, Mr. Curtis is the organist and choir director at the First Congregational Church in Elyria.

Married Students Discuss Problems

What plans does the University have to improve the situation of the married students on campus?

As stated in an article in the Oct. 27 issue of the NEWS, the major problems facing married couples include housing, health service, and recreational facilities and programs. University officials are aware of these problems and, for that reason, will participate in a meeting with married couples to discuss possible solutions.

This important gathering, scheduled for 6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, in the Alumni Room of the University Union, will be moderated by Dr. Elden T. Smith, dean of students. At that time Dr. Smith officially will present the University's plans for meeting the needs of married students more adequately.

Richard Powers, chairman of the planning committee for the meeting, feels that it will prove most informative, both from the personal and collective standpoints.

Powers said, "If married couples show enough interest they can work together to enrich their own lives and, at the same time, make a substantial contribution to the student body."

"This meeting," he added, "will tell whether the current situation is to be improved or whether married students will continue to be satisfied with their 'existence' as students."

Further information on this matter may be obtained by calling 3-2891 or 3-2751, or by contacting Darrell Rader, Robert Walker, Nelson Milligan, or Powers.

8th Grade Students View College Life

On Saturday, Nov. 7, 80 eighth graders from the Oakland School in Maumee will get their first perspective of college life as they visit campus under the guidance of Miss Marilyn Nielson, a graduate of Bowling Green.

At present a home economics teacher in Maumee, Miss Nielson majored in home economics at Bowling Green. She plans a tour of the new home economics facilities, guided by Miss Helen Henderson, associate professor of home economics.

Also on schedule for the Maumee students are tours of the University Union and South Hall.

BGSU To Host Clinic

IFC Passes 3 Resolutions, Rushing Rules

Amendments Are Added To Council's By-Laws

The annual "summit" meeting of fraternity presidents in Port Clinton Oct. 16 and 17 has resulted in the addition of three amendments to the Interfraternity Council by-laws.

The conference delegates proposed nine resolutions dealing with scholarship and finance, both recognized as big problems presently facing fraternities, at the two-day session. After presenting these resolutions to their respective chapters, the IFC representatives voted affirmatively on three of the resolutions, thereby placing them in effect.

Concerning the new amendments, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald said, "This is another demonstration of the sense of responsibility, and the strength of our fraternity system. The strong leadership which the IFC is providing is in keeping with the splendid progress which the fraternity system has experienced this year and last."

The two amendments dealing with scholarship are: "Any fraternity whose scholastic average is below 2.0 immediately will be placed on social probation, and fraternities shall maintain a 2.25 point average, or the all-men's average, whichever is higher, as a standard for warning and loss of social privileges for the active membership of the fraternities, and, "All pledge programs, with the exception of scholarship, will culminate three weeks prior to the first day of final examination."

The amendment dealing with finances stated: "Any fraternity which is in debt $100 or more in the last month of the academic year, with insufficient cash on hand to liquidate the obligations said fraternity has incurred, shall be required to secure, either from the University or other sources, a cash loan to fulfill all financial obligations. The fact that said fraternity has accounts receivable to cover the obligations will have no bearing."

Dr. Emerson C. Shuck, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, in a letter to the IFC, said: "Both I and the Liberal Arts Council were very much impressed by the evidence of sound thinking and courage which these resolutions represented. You have my sincere admiration and also that of the faculty members for your efforts."

Attending the Conference were presidents and treasurers of 15% of the campus fraternities, the members of the IFC executive council, and Wallace W. Taylor, dean of men and adviser to the IFC.

Eligible Seniors List Posted By Registrar

"A list of students who expect to graduate in February, 1960, will be posted on the bulletin board next to the Registrar's Office Nov. 13," stated Glenn Van Wormer, registrar.

Mr. Van Wormer emphasized that all students who expect to graduate in February who do not find their names on this list should make application immediately at the Registrar's Office.

"TAKE THAT, YOU BEAST!"—Susy Binkley, Treadway, gives John Ireland, commander of the Pershing Rifles, a dose of his own medicine. Ireland and other members of the PRs currently are engaged in a demonstration program to train women in the manly (?) art of judo. Similar demonstrations will be held in Front and Williams Halls in the near future.

Informal Rush Begins; IFC Defines Program

Fraternity informal rush began yesterday, according to IFC president Ray Marvin. At the regular IFC meeting last Monday night, the Council approved a rush plan that put a dual rush program into effect for 1959-1960. The first part of the program will be informal and the second half formal.

In the informal program as passed at the meeting, informal rush is to extend from Nov. 5 to Feb. 4, when formal rush will begin. The informal rush period will bring about "free" association on campus between fraternity men and rushees. "Free" association is defined as any reasonable rushing excluding organized parties. The campus is defined as the campus proper, the 900 Club, Broske's, TOs, the Dairy Bar, the Clazel, the Colonial, and all churches.

During this informal period, all fraternity houses will be open from 7 a.m. until dinner on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. Thursday the fraternity houses will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Each fraternity will be allotted one week end for an open house and a party.

Fraternities will be assigned a Friday or Saturday for a party, from among the following dates: Nov. 13, Nov. 15, Jan. 8, Jan. 10, Jan. 15, and Jan. 17. On the night of the party, rushees will be allowed in the houses until 9 a.m. of the following morning. On the week end of the party, Sunday will be designated an open house from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. for all houses that had parties that week end.

Formal rush will begin Friday, Feb. 5, with registration. The period will last two weeks and will follow somewhat the formal rush periods of the last two years. Complete detailed information on formal rush will appear in the NEWS immediately preceding formal rush.

No meals may be served to rushees in the fraternity houses during either formal or informal rush. Bids will be picked up by rushees Saturday, Feb. 20.

Editorially Speaking

Conferences Are Worthwhile!

Tomorrow the University will say good bye to a sizable portion of its student body and, at the same time, welcome a comparable number of visitors from other colleges and universities.

Those leaving will be headed for the annual ODK Leadership Conference in Findlay; those arriving will be here for the annual AWS State Day. But, regardless of their direction, the students involved will be bound by a common purpose: to benefit themselves and their institutions through intelligent discussion of mutual problems.

At this point many readers might say, "So what! I've never seen anything beneficial come out of these conferences anyhow."

This is true. The great majority of students do not see the improvement that is brought about by these high-level "bull sessions" because the results are of an intangible nature.

AWS and ODK, in themselves, do not have the power to initiate such policy changes as might be recommended at the respective conferences. For this reason the ideas and recommendations that are forwarded cannot be effected immediately.

The real value, then, lies with the individual persons in attendance. Through this sharing of ideas they are shown new and better ways to approach the problems in their particular areas of influence.

As with all social change, the process is slow. Tangible evidence of this progress is beneath the surface but, it is there!

A case in point is the results which were triggered by last year's ODK conference topic: "What can we do to improve the intellectual atmosphere at the University?" Practically all who attended came away stimulated and eager to apply what they had learned to their various organizations.

Cobus Hour and the Philosophy Discussion Hour were begun last year. Attendance improved at cultural events. The University Library experienced its "heaviest traffic" to that date.

The correlation is obvious.

To those who will be participating in the conference sessions tomorrow and to the persons who doubt the value of such conferences, we offer these facts, for both must be aware of the valuable contributions to be made around the conference table—wherever it may be.

'Shrew' Scores Hit

Canadian Players' Effort Cited As Thoroughly 'Professional'

By DR. CHARLES McDONALD
Instructor in English

The performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" given by the Canadian Players in the Grand Ballroom of the Union Sunday evening merits more than the usual reviewer's cliché of "a charming evening of theatre," for this was in the best sense a thoroughly "professional" production.

Shakespeare's play, certainly not among the world's greatest farces, was so illuminated by imaginative and well-paced directing by Denis Carey. A cast headed by Max Helpmann's authoritative Petruchio and Kate Reid's volatile Katherina, makes it difficult to think when this work of the dramatist's apprentice years "ever had it so good." In the hands of this company it became a pleasure to behold.

Subordinates Strong

In all farce, the element of "spectacle," in pleasing and amusing the audience visually, looms large, and the stage business for this performance was imaginatively inspired and drolly executed.

Particularly engaging were the antics of Charles Hayter as Grumio, the occasional bawls of anguish by Bianca and the Tailor, the "waiting at the church" pantomime, and the rousing climax to the "first act" when Petruchio carried Kate from the wedding feast in spite of her own and the company's wishes. Excellent timing and execution of these scenes, as well as such others as the scurrying bustle of the servants upon Petruchio's roaring arrival home after his marriage, kept the audience not only amused but expectant and alert.

Still in the realm of "spectacle," the costumes were stylized with both flamboyance and beauty; the mixture of "Gay Nineties" garb for the men with modified "Elizabethan" gowns for the women, the lavish use of color throughout, and the strong sense of stage grouping produced repeatedly striking and memorable designs.

Palmer As Grumio

Of the acting it may be said, and this is a company's highest praise, that it was almost uniformly excellent. There were no weak subordinates merely "filling out" a cast for the benefit of one or two "stars," and many members of the company created truly memorable interpretations of their roles. Mr. Helpmann was properly business-like and yet swashbuckling in gaining absolute control of the newest of Petruchio's chattels, and Miss Reid gave a finely modulated performance, volcanic at the outset and touching at the close. Her facial expressions and gestures were particularly fine. Mervyn Blake's Baptista was both mercenary shrewd and genially paternal at just the right moments, and his obvious relief at being rid of his spiteful daughter was high comedy. Kena Shuster's Bianca had a clever coquettishness, and John Gardiner's Hortensio a studied witless foppishness that made his ill-success with Bianca and domination by the Widow thoroughly understandable.

Charles Palmer as old Grumio

and the Tailor did nicely with both parts, though his Grumio seemed to me a bit too dapper and not quite doddering enough. Having already mentioned Mr. Hayter's admirable wisecracks yet dead-pan approach to the "skipping slave" Grumio, it remains only to say that James Reed's Tranio also was a knowing performance, while Joseph Maher was an amiably witless Biondello. Only one performer left me with mixed reactions: Gary Plaxton as Lucutio portrayed his role well, but the somewhat cadenced delivery which the rest of the company well affected, became in him a forced artificiality of delivery. But this is a minor criticism of a performance in every other respect first-rate.

Bloodmobile Surpasses Goal In Campus Drive

Bowling Green State University students have made it possible to surpass the goal of 125 pints of blood which was set for the Red Cross Bloodmobile's visit to the University Wednesday. From 162 students, faculty members, university employees, and townspeople who volunteered, the Red Cross received 138 pints of blood.

This was the greatest response ever given to the call for blood at the University. Dr. Mary Watt, associate professor of HPE, said, "We have had wonderful support from everyone... With the same support, we should have no trouble topping our goal from now on!"

"Probably 90 per cent of the donations today were from University students," Dr. Watt added. Thirty-nine Army ROTC students made a group project of giving blood.

The blood given today will be taken to the regional headquarters for the blood program, at Cleveland, where it will be processed and distributed to hospitals all over northern Ohio.

Following is a list of those who signed up to donate blood:

Dr. Ralph H. Geer, director of off-campus programs, said that students enrolled in the branches of the University carrying nine or more semester hours will be issued ID cards. This entitles the students to the same privileges as students at the main campus.

The authorization of ID card privileges for full-time branch students is another step toward the fulfillment of President Ralph W. McDonald's desire to make available in the branches of the University the same high quality of educational services that exists on the Bowling Green campus.

Each ID card must have a student's picture mounted on the front. The cards will be prepared on campus and forwarded to the branch directors for distribution. They will be available Monday, Nov. 9.

A Student Handbook and a schedule of campus activities will be issued with each ID card.

Five and one-half billion dollars in tax money is a big enough amount to hurt every U.S. family that has to help pay it. Yet that much tax money has already been poured into unnecessary federal "public power" dams and plants.

The lobbyists for federal "public power," the bureaucrats and the socialists keep pressing Congress to spend tax money like this, even though there's no need for it. The independent electric companies are ready and able to provide all the electricity the nation needs.

Can't this waste be stopped? Yes—if enough informed citizens will speak out publicly against it. Will you help blow the whistle?

Falcons To Encounter Southern Illinois Team

Bowling Green's undefeated Falcons will be going after their seventh straight victory this Saturday when they travel to Carbondale, Ill. to encounter Southern Illinois in an inter-sectional gridiron contest.

Southern Illinois' Salukis (Sa-loo-kees) started off the season slowly, but have picked up steam of late and are riding a three-game winning streak. The Salukis, members of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Association, have compiled a season record of 4-3. SIU's victories have been over West Virginia State, 20-6; Eastern Illinois, 7-0; Illinois Normal, 7-0; and Eastern Michigan, 41-14. They have suffered losses to Evansville, 8-20; Northern Illinois, 15-20; and Western Illinois, 6-33.

The Salukis finished second in the IIAA last year, with an overall record of 7-2. This year SIU is under a new head coach, Carmen Piccone, who brought with him the belly series style of football offense.

SIU possesses a strong front line, averaging 224 pounds, and a lightning-fast backfield, which averages 200 pounds. In comparison, Bowling Green's front line averages 210 pounds, and the backfield 198 pounds.

Clarence Walker, a freshman, leads the ground attack for the Salukis with 319 yards gained in 65 carries for a 4.9-yard average. SIU has several freshman starters on the squad, as freshman are allowed to play under the IIAA rules.

The Falcons' leading ground gainer is halfback Bernie Casey, who is averaging 6.3 yards per carry. Casey has carried the pigskin 43 times for a total of 269 yards. Halfbacks Chuck Comer and Russ Hepner are right behind Casey with 235 and 214 yards.

The Salukis' quarterback, Ron Winter is tops in passing with 19 completions in 51 tries for 168 yards. End Jim Battle is Winter's favorite receiver, with eight catches for 54 yards.

Bowling Green's ace quarterback Bob Colburn, who is the top passer in the Mid-American Conference, has completed 38 of 70 attempts for 506 yards. Dave McClain is second in the passing department for the Falcons with 209 yards gained on 11 completions.

Casey and Hepner are the top receivers on the Bowling Green squad with 179 and 124 yards.

This is the first year that the Falcons have played Southern Illinois. The Salukis are on Bowling Green's schedule for the next three years.

Carbondale, the home of Southern Illinois, is located 335 miles south of Chicago and 100 miles southeast of St. Louis. The enrollment of the university is 12,000 students.

Radio station WFOB Fostoria will broadcast the game at 2:20 p.m.

JUMPIN' JERRY — Senior end Jerry Roberts, who will see action against SIU Saturday, has been outstanding on defense for the Falcons, and has caught six passes, for 37 yards and one touchdown.

Bowling Tournament Preliminaries To Begin

Preliminaries for the National Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament will be held Dec. 1 through 7 in the University Union bowling alleys, Joe McNamara, general chairman, stated today.

All participants will bowl six games, and from these scores the top 12 men and the top 12 women will be selected to bowl in the regional phase of the National Tournament Feb. 17 through 24.

Harriers To Finish Season At Ohio U. In Conference Run

Bowling Green's harriers travel to Athens Saturday for the Mid-American Conference championship cross country meet.

Powerful Western Michigan, unbeaten this year and defending MAC champs, will not be denied, according to Coach Dave Matthews of the Falcons. "Bowling Green has a good chance for second in the conference, however," said Coach Matthews. The Bowling Green mentor said that if John Scott, Larry Dove, and Dave Armstrong can finish right behind Miami's Steve Telesky, but ahead of the other Miami men, second place should go to the Falcons.

In 1958, the Western Michigan harriers won the title with 22 points, and Miami finished second with 56. The Falcons were third with 64 points, followed by Ohio University, Kent State, and Marshall. Toledo University does not have a cross country team, and has not fielded one for several years.

The Broncos have beaten Miami 16-46 in a dual meet this year. In winning the Michigan AAU and the Notre Dame Invitational last week, the Broncos far outdistanced the Bowling Green team, which was entered in both events.

Jerry Ashmore, Carl Reid, and Art Eversole are three of the nation's best, and these Western Michigan men should have no trouble finishing one-two-three, according to Coach Matthews. Carl Shepard and John Schengili are the two other Falcon harriers who will figure in the meet, said Coach Matthews.

Don Bellissimo did the only other scoring in the game, when he ran 45 yards for the Phi Delts' second score.

Casey's 7 Touchdowns Pace Mid-Am Scoring

The Falcons' great halfback, Bernie Casey, a tackle in high school, moved up in several statistical departments in the Mid-American Conference this week, as a result of his brilliant performance against the Miami Redskins Saturday.

By scoring three touchdowns Saturday, Casey jumped far ahead in the scoring race. He has scored seven touchdowns and two two-point conversions. His closest competitors are Dick Mostardo of Kent, with 28 points, and Bill Triplett of Miami, with 20. Close on their heels are Bowling Green's Jerry Dianiska and Clarence Mason, both of whom have scored three touchdowns for 18 points.

Casey has also moved up into a tie for second place with the Miami Redskins' Bill Miller in individual rushing, with 234 yards on 35 carries for a 6.7-yard average. He trails Ohio University's Bob Brooks by 76 yards. Brooks has lugged the ball 54 times for 310 yards and a 5.7-yard average.

Chuck Comer of Bowling Green is in fourth place, with 214 yards in 30 carries for a league-leading 7.1-yard average. BG's sophomore sensation, Russ Hepner, is in seventh place.

Toledo's Jack Vergiels heads the pass receivers with 10 grabs for 139 yards and one touchdown. Casey is hot on his trail with nine passes for 132 yards and one TD. The Rockets' big end, Bob Smith, has the most total yardage gained on passes, catching eight for a total of 195 yards and two touchdowns. Mason and Jerry Roberts are among four players tied for sixth place, with six receptions each. BG has another representative in the leaders in Hepner, with five for 64 yards.

To no one's surprise, Bob Colburn continues to pace the passers. He has attempted 55 passes and has completed 32 for 403 yards and 4 TDs. Colburn had a pass intercepted Saturday, only the second time this has happened this season. TU's Dennis Wilkie leads in total yardage with 422 yards, and in touchdown passes with five,

'Inside Shelly Berman' Recording Brings Laughter To BG Campus

"Inside Shelly Berman," is becoming a noted laugh record on campus.
The platter is a monologue by the comedian Shelly Berman, who has starred on the Jack Paar, Ed Sullivan, and Steve Allen shows and in night clubs throughout the country. "Inside Shelly Berman" is a complete recording of one of his night club appearances.

Berman is usually found with an imaginary telephone in his hand, sitting on a stool. Sometimes he is a man badgering his nephew to call his mommy to the phone: "Just stand there with the telephone in your little claw and yell 'Mommy'. If you don't—lightning will strike you!" Another time Berman is the intimidated passenger on an airplane and notices the wing is on fire. He immediately informs the hostess who has just gotten out of "smile school." "The wing is on fire," he says. "Coffee, tea or milk," she asks. Berman replies, "We don't have time for coffee, tea or milk. The plane is ablaze and we're doomed." The hostess answers, "In that case, how about a martini?"

Berman's flawless feeling for timing and the correct tone of voice make his acts skillful, while his awareness of the small, humorous details of life, and his delightful way of relating them to the audience, make the record unique.

Many students on campus have been subjected to Berman's humor. Dave Wobser, social chairman of Rodgers Quadrangle, said, "It is the most hilarious record I have ever heard." The residents of the Alpha Gamma Delta house almost wore out the grooves, playing it time and time again. The platter has been used for mixers and social gatherings. It always incites a great deal of laughter.

This record is Berman's first release and sales are on the rise.

BG Pershing Rifles See Mock Combat; Practice Patrolling

The Pershing Rifles will get a real taste of combat, under simulated conditions, this evening and tomorrow when they undertake a full-scale field problem at the Milnor Farm, west of Bowling Green on Poe Road.

The problem, which is being sponsored by Maj. Harry Williams and SFC Donald Traynor, both of the Army ROTC unit, has the purpose of further developing leadership among the members of the PRs.

The crowded day-and-a-half schedule will include practical work on night scouting and patrolling, night movement, night security, and leadership reaction tests. Cloyd Scott, the PR sponsor, will be on hand to witness Saturday's activities.

The men will carry full field equipment and sleeping bags. Realism will be injected by use of pyrotechnics, blank ammunition, and artillery simulators. Also, all maneuvers will feature the use of "aggressor" forces.

Blind Jazz Pianist Performs Here

Art Edgerton, blind jazz pianist who has appeared on WTOL-TV, will present a jazz concert in the Dogwood Suite of the University Union tonight at 8. The program is expected to last one to two hours.

This concert is being sponsored by the Informal Concert committee and is classified under the popular music division.

The informal concerts are divided into two classifications this year. The Sunday musical concerts will be presented two Sundays each month. These programs will last one hour and will consist of music in the classical vein.

Talent will be selected from two sources: from music students on campus, and from musicians in the campus community and Bowling Green area.

Jim Hardy, chairman of the committee, stated, "This will give students an opportunity to perform and gain experience, and to broaden the cultural development of the audience."

The second classification of concerts will be the popular music type. These concerts will be presented on week ends, but not on Sundays.

Mr. Edgerton's program is in the "popular music" category. Also in February, Erroll Garner is scheduled to present a jazz concert in the Grand Ballroom.

The committee also sponsors the annual Pop Concert by the University Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Seymour Benstock.

Atomic Fallout Detection Project Carried On At Urschel Quarry

If there were radioactive explosions in the area, the fallout could be detected readily in Urschel Quarry, due to a research project being headed by Dr. Ernest Hamilton, assistant professor of biology.

The Atomic Energy Commission gave a grant to Dr. Jacob Verduin approximately three years ago to begin this work. Since then, biology majors, graduate students, and members of the faculty have become involved in the project.

Basically, the research is a study of primary productivity of various natural bodies of water. By making various chemical measurements of water, such as measuring the amount of carbon dioxide present in water at varied time intervals during the day, a standard is determined. This standard can be used in case of fallout to reflect various changes that would show up in the community. These changes would show up more readily in a body of water than on land.

The students make counts of aquatic organisms, plant and animal in the water; from this, they are attempting to find the natural population of aquatic organisms at particular seasons. Often there is a drastic change. For example, algae increase a great deal when ice is present. This indicates that there are various population peaks for different organisms at certain times of the year.

During the first year of this project, the major portion of work was concentrated on finding the most efficient method for conducting this research. Thus, the area surrounding Bowling Green has also been utilized in collecting information.

The AEC has provided this grant to find the natural occurring cycles in this body of water in order to establish a standard.
